

A collaborative mentorship program and residency in Sardinia, dedicated to artists, writers and researchers who need time to work and finalize an ongoing project.

This year's session is welcoming artists, designers, writers, curators, and researchers, who need time and a dedicated space to focus on editing new work or concluding an ongoing project related to visual research, photography as well as image-text-based work.

WHEN

April-October, 2023

APPLICATION DEADLINE

April 12th, 2023

WHAT WE OFFER

Six online mentorship sessions in combination with a 10 days in-person residency in Sardinia, where each resident will have a private room and shared studio space for the development and elaboration of their project. We will also help the resident with finding research materials, creating connections with local organizations and artists, dedicating time to the analysis of the project, and any further development of it.

The hosting house is equipped with an extensive library of books and magazines from the 1960s until the early 2000s and diverse collectibles and objects.

THE PROGRAM

In this program we're welcoming artists, designers, writers, curators, and researchers, who need time and a dedicated space to focus on editing new work or concluding an ongoing project related to visual research, photography as well as image-text based work.

Between April 2023 and September 2023, every month, participants will have the space to discuss their projects in group and individual sessions with their mentor. The program will provide one meeting per month in which participants will be able to show the progress of their project, discuss their work's developments and express doubts or needs related to their artistic practice.

In addition to the online meetings, this program offers the possibility to meet in person for 10 days in the town of Villacidro, Sardinia (Italy). This time is perfect to meet the group and have a relaxed and dedicated time to focus on a specific project.

Laimun is an inclusive project and is open to candidates of any language, gender, age (18+), or nationality.

The mentor for the session 2023 is Anya Jasbar, independent curator, editor, artist and writer. Further professional figures or guests will be announced during the residency.

YOU WORK WITH

Books and publications, exhibitions preparation, research projects, curatorial projects, photographic series, photo-textual works and photo-literature, usage and investigation in digital and analog archives, publishing as an art form, interdisciplinary independent publishing, unconventional forms of poetry, fiction and creative nonfiction, philosophical and cultural research in the arts.

PARTICIPATION FEE

€650 *travel and material costs not included. The first payment of €325 is due upon confirmation and has to be paid before the first session of the online mentorship program. (approx. 17th April, 2023)

HOW TO APPLY

Please fill the online form to submit all your documents. You will receive a feedback in 5-7 days from your application.

MORE INFO

For more info regarding the program and all its facilities, with a detailed list of frequently asked questions, visit our website laimunresidency.com. To write us an email please contact us at laimunresidency@gmail.com