bkkc is the knowledge center for art and culture in Noord-Brabant. An independent network for artists, cultural institutions, administrations, organizations and companies. We share knowledge, stimulate supply and demand and advise on or help with fundraising. We contribute to a dynamic and attractive Brabant, with a healthy cultural climate for entrepreneurs. bkkc physicalizes the value of art and culture.

www.bkkc.nl

DutchCulture|TransArtists shares knowledge and experience about artist-in-residence programs and other international opportunities for creative professionals to temporarily live and work elsewhere.

www.transartists.org

Artist-in-residence programs are created to allow artists to live and work elsewhere for a set period of time. The residences, also known as guest studios, offer artists an opportunity to develop new work, engage in new projects, expand their networks or work with specific technical facilities. As catalysts for artistic development and production, artist-in-residence programs can bolster the professional development of artists by connecting local contexts with an international environment.

In Brabant, the programs are often organized by the artists themselves. Our programs operate on the margins of art and society: they move within and outside institutional frameworks in order to create space for art on its own terms.

diversity

With a brochure, an exhibition and a conference, we're exploring the cartography of the margins of artist-in-residence organizations from both a local and an international perspective. The brochure introduces 17 guest studios across Brabant that offer a variety of options. While specific disciplines or mediums (ceramics, print, metal) take center stage in some programs, others encourage the artist's engagement with society by making lodging available in unusual places such as a monastery, a healthcare facility or a ship.

tools for artists

Together, these residences create a range of possibilities for artists. Young graduates are encouraged to improve their skills and gain exposure. More established artists are challenged to deepen and review their work. Artists are offered space and time for reflection as well as an opportunity to focus on a specific subject or a discipline, start new collaborations or work on special projects. The interaction between the host studios with established institutions and professionals in the art world has proven a valuable tool to strengthen and expand artistic careers. A breeding ground for talent, the artist-in-residence program in Brabant deserves our attention and support.

overview

See overleaf for a map of the 17 guest studios across Brabant.

Atlas Initiatief

📍 Vellingkade 12 | 4815 HC | Breda
all oceans, coastal areas and seaports
atlasinitiatief@gmail.com www.atlasinitiatief.org

disciplines: all paid by artist: between €400 - €600 per week

In 2020 the AIR program of the Atlas (a sea-vessel) will start. Every year a sailing route is announced. Artists and scientists can register on a part of the route, it is also possible to submit a request for adaptation of the route. In the selection of residents, the motivation and urgency of the resident and the feasibility of the project are taken into account. The resident makes a sea voyage on the Atlas with her crew and is expected to participate in life on board. The aim of the Atlas is to offer the resident a physical experience of the earth by means of a sea trip.
